SATURDAY. JANUARY 20. A NEWSPAPER in picking up the incidents, accidents and items from day to day and week to week to lay before its readers, as a general rule finds more either to regret or perhaps to condemn than to rejoice over and to praise; and therefore it is pleasant to meet at times with something that deserves praise. It is especially agreeable when in our home political affairs we find views advanced, and measures proposed that our own judgment fully approves.

Thus much by way of preface. We learn that it is the intention of government in all leases of public lands hereafter to be made, to insert specific clauses with reference to the preservation of forests, and, we hope, for the replanting of forests as well. That our island forests have been rapidly disappearing from year to year, is well known by this time to everybody. Perhaps it is not so well understood that on the preservalife and prosperity of the country. On government leased lands, it must be acknowledged, the work of destruction of forests has gone forward more rapidly even than upon private property. It is therefore a fact upon which we congratulate the country that the present administration has sound views upon this question, and discards the theories of "currents of air," and "jungle thought that forests need much fostering care.

This expression by the Ministry of a desire to preserve the forests is a step towards conserving the value of the public lands, upon which the success of many a future enterprise may depend that will be of great benefit to the country.

We have always on general principles been opposed to the practice of leasing government/ lands, and especially as it has too frequently been done in the past, to favored applicants for small rents and no guarantees, against waste; and our opinion is that through these long leases of large tracts the country has lost vastly more in the depreciated values of the lands than the treasury has gained by the receipts for rent. But where the preservation of existing forests is assured, or, far better, the replanting of a certain number of trees is made obligatory, much of the objection to long leases will have been removed.

And in this connection we are reminded of recent and very proper regulation of the Interior Department, whereby applications for lease or sale of public lands are published in the newspapers, with the name of the applicant and the price offered. By this plan the country is assured that hereafter there shall be no favoritism or secret dealing in the disposition of gov ernment property. And by this act the Ministry have set themselves squarely upon a foundation of public confidence that will not easily be

In a recent issue we referred to the fact that the business of sugar growing in the French West Indies was in an extremely prosperous conwinds up to lan 16th, shence encountered a SW gale in lat dition, as distinguished from almost all other 25° 5, long 152° 38, and hove to the vessel for 24 hours; then sugar-producing countries; and we stated that had fine weather to port, making the passage in 14 days and the secret of this extraordinary prosperity was dition, as distinguished from almost all other the secret of this extraordinary prosperity was found in the happy combination which there Left Liverpool Aug 28th, 1876; had moderate weather from existed between labor and capital. From time to time we have sought to improve every opportunity that has offered to urge upon our people and government the manifold advantages which must accrue to the country at large by adopting a system of small farming and co-operation in the manufacture of sugar. The published history of the experience of the French in the island of Martinique affords a remarkable and highly instructive illustration of the correctness of this theory, and is well worthy of careful study by our statesmen and our landowners. The island has been visited during the past year by Mr.

Angus Mackay, a special agent from the government of the Colony of Queensland, Australia, to the Centennial Exposition, who examined the West Indies with a view to collecting information regarding the culture of sugar,-a business for which large portions of Queensland are admirably suited, and in which its people have extensive interests. His report on this subject is published in the Australian papers, and the portion which most interests us is that relating to the remarkable progress in production of the island of Martinique. A few years ago, the business of sugar growing there was at a very low ebb. There were a few large plantations, but they were struggling with difficulties, mainly from the lack of labor. The inhabitants-free blacks-would not work for the wages that could be offered, and found an easy living in the luxuriance of a tropical clime. Things were ing to the bad very fast, when the late Emperor Napoleon, in conjunction with a firm of French machinists, took the subject in hand and started out with a plan that was bold and novel. They proceeded at government expense to erect mills and machinery for the manufacture of sugar in various localities on the island where there was as yet no cane planted, but with the expectation that the crops would come by and bye. Of course there were a plenty of people to pooh pooh the experiment as entirely utopian, and to predict certain failure and loss. However, it turned out that wherever the government had erected a mill, and the advantageous terms on which crops would be manufactured were made known, the people came forward and planted the cane. The success of the scheme was marked from the start. Where sloth, apathy and poverty formerly prevailed, everything was now industry and activity. A general prosperity flowed in upon the island, and in course of time the planters became themselves

the owners of the mills, by investing their spare

capital in the stock, in accordance with the plan originally proposed by the government. So thoroughly is the co-operative system carried out to-day in Martinique, that the tillers of the soil -the laborers-are not infrequently the owners of stock in the mill that grinds their cane. The and 2 children, Master Willie Balley, Miss Thurston, Miss government got back its original investment, and Clarke, Miss Willfong, Master Armstrong, Jas W Girwin, F Gooke, S T Alexander, J B Hirst, Miss Ellis, R Permerton, J is handsomely repaid for its time and labor by the enhanced value which has resulted to all kinds of taxable property in the island. Mar-FROM MICRONSSIA-Per Moralog Star, Jan 14-Rev B.G. tinique, an island of about the size of Oahu, has sow and wife, Rev H J Taylor and child, Rev W B Kapu and 3 children, Mrs Mary E Logan, Mrs S Kahelemausa and a population of about three times as many as

Why cannot the people of these islands "go FOR WINDWARD PORTS-Per Kilsues, Jan 15-R Bram-well, Rev S E Bishop, T W Everett, W R Cuthbert, Mr Hurd, D D Baldwin, B J Taylor, E Taylor, W Weight, J F Brown, H S Woolley, S Parker, wife, child and 3 servants, Kia Nahao-with an enlightened and energetic Ministry to direct our affairs, we hope soon to see our government taking the lead in prompting agricultural enterprises, by providing mills for the manufacture of sugar, after the wise example of the French government at Martinique.

> [Correspondence of the P. C. Advertiser.] Monthly Letter from Europe.

LONDON, Dec. 1st, 1876. Naval News - H. M. S. Tenedos reached Plymouth last month after a four years commission in the Pacific; her voyage home has been a very rough and protracted one. A few weeks after her arrival, Captain Edwin John Pollard was tried by court martial for having placed the ship in danger of being stranded on a rock off the coast of Chili, July 29th, as already reported in a former letter, and also with having committed an act against naval discipline by suppressing the fact in his report that the Tenedos passed between rock and shore. During a three days trial evidence was given by Lieuts. Deane, Needham, Graham, and several of the crew, whereupon the court acquitted Capt. Pollard on the charge of making a wilful mistatement, his log and chart proving the contrary, but finding him guilty of having negligently hazarded the Tenedos, adjudged him to be dismissed from his ship. The Myrmidon which was relieved by the Fantome at Honolulu, has been ordered home to Spithead. The German corvette Augusta sailed last month via Sydney for Apia, Gerin, J P from where she may possibly pay Honolulu, a visit. H. M. S. Alocrity is at present making a complete survey of the Fiji group. Some quick trips out have just been made. S. S. St. Osyth from London reached Melbourne in 454 days, while the Dunedin from Glasgow for Otago, N. Z., made the trip in only 80 days. The Australian mail per Zealandia. was delivered here two days in advance of contract time. After endless trials, breakdowns and delays tion of the forests very much depends the future | H. M. S. Shah, Captain Bedford, is at last ready to coal up and sail for the Pacific, at once, as Admiral De Horsey's flagship on that station. Hawaiian bark Ka Moi left Bremen, Nov. 4th, for Honolulu. How very little is still known of Hawaii over here is proved by the following item in the usually well informed French journal Le Siècle, of Nov. 15th.

"News has just been received, that an Oriental sovereign intends to visit Paris during the Exhibition of 1878, namely Kamehameha, King of Honolulu !" It is therefore, doubly gratifying to find in the October number of " Petermann's Geographical sponges," and the scientific (?) principle of Communications," a well executed and very complete leaving forests to take care of themselves; map of the island of Hawaii with all the harbors, es, roads, mountains and lavaflows, the latter in red, also separate plans of the craters of Moku-aweowee and Kilauea, a profile view of Mauna Loa
